We firstly resized training images to the size of 224*224. Then we used ResNet to train and test. The model was pre-trained on ImageNet. The model was used for testing the performance of conventional CNN networks.