In this submission, we use convolutional neural network for segmentation. We stack 3D convolutional layers and 3D de-convolutional layers. We rescale and crop in the input 3D images, so that all the preprocessed inputs have the same shape. We subsample the input for data augmentation. As the paper is to be under blind review, no details are included in this document. It will be refined after publication.